

A Review of Major Changes in the Accounting Landscape in 2018 and 2019

Assoc. Prof. Pearl Tan

The International Accounting Standards Board is overhauling a number of key accounting standards and issuing new standards that will have a major impact on both accounting practice and how we analyze and interpret transactions. Is something truly broken that requires to be fixed? The speaker will review some of the major changes in International Financial Reporting Standards and gives her views on the changes and how it would impact reporting entities and the user community. The role that academics can play in shaping the future of accounting standards will also be reviewed in this talk.
